Manjunatha, Registrar, JSS AHER, during the international workshop in city this morning.

Dr. Amitava Bandopadhyay, Director General, NAM S&T Centre, inaugurated the event in the presence of Dr. C.G. Betsurmath, Executive Secretary, JSS Mahavidyapeetha, Dr. B. Suresh, Pro-Chancellor of JSS AHER, Dr. Surinder Singh, Vice-Chancellor and Dr. B. Manjunatha, Registrar.

In his remarks, Dr. Suresh said that girls and women have the primary responsibility of fetching water for families without running water. They lug heavy containers over rough terrain and are often at risk of attack and vulnerable to health issues.

"Women must travel longer to find new sources of water, and this affects their lives daily. Their domestic uses include cooking and cleaning, where uncontaminated water is a necessity. In addition, raising children requires nourishing and sanitary water. I hope that this workshop will provide solutions to the issues faced by women and pave way for women-friendly water policies," Dr. Suresh said.

The two-day workshop is aimed at gaining experience on gender and social equity approaches to water management as well as actively assisting development of local knowledge and resources to facilitate dissemination of knowledge and information, said Dr. Betsurmath.

More than 40 experts and 200 participants from about 50 Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) countries working in the area of water science, related eco-system and services and socio-economic sectors as well as members of planning and policy groups working towards gender equity are attending the workshop.

Other speakers include Prof. David Jenkins, University of Plymouth, UK, Prof. Nnenesi Kgabi from the Unit for Environmental Sciences and Management, North-West University, South Africa and Prof. V. Subramaniam, former JNU Professor.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

But the 70s and 80s were times when gadgets were monuments. Imposing, sacred, to be approached with the greatest reverence and not a little fear. They were installations that exuded mystery and needed to be dealt with only by Important People, namely the men of the house. We never had a record player and had access to it only when we went to an uncle's house. No religious rite has been carried out with greater ceremony; the Japanese tea ritual is a quick act compared with the fastidious and highly elaborate regimen for playing music on the gramophone, as it was then called. It involved first removing the ornate cover from the stereo system, carefully selecting a disc from a neatly stacked pile of options, wiping the cover of the album, slowly, really slowly extracting the record from the sleeve, caressing it clean with the merest whisper of a cloth, placing it with adoring care in its slot, lifting the needle as gingerly as if were a vial of toxic plutonium, waiting purposefully just for the heck of it before finally uniting the needle with its destined groove, and letting the music flow.

The gadget, if anything, is even more central to our lives today. While we may own our share of blenders, hair-dryers, air fryers, home theatres and the like, there is really only one gadget at the heart of everything we do. The mobile phone today is a master-key of all devices. It packs so much functionality in its petite form that we have exhausted any concept of wonder usually associated with the gadget. We take the magic of the phone for granted as we await the next upgrade. The gadget still changes our lives in small and important ways, but perhaps it does not excite the emotions it once did. — Santosh Desai in The Times of India

Baby ghost shark discovered in New Zealand

Auckland: A baby ghost shark has been found by scientists off the east coast of New Zealand's South Island.

The days-old creature, which is also known as a chimaera, was discovered shortly after being hatched at a depth of about 1.2km (0.7 miles) on the Chatham Rise, an area of ocean floor.

Scientists from the National Institute of Water and Atmospheric Research said the deep water shark must have recently been born as its belly was still full of egg yolk.

The team was carrying out a trawl survey to estimate populations of hoki fish when they discovered the neonate (newly-hatched) animal, which is related to sharks and rays. Dr. Brit Finucci, a member of the team, said of the very rare find: "It's quite astonishing. Most deep-water ghost sharks are known adult specimens; neonates are infrequently reported so we know very little about them."

Jordan's half-smoked cigar up for auction

New York: A New York-based auction house is offering an unusual piece of sports memorabilia — a cigar that Michael Jordan smoked.

Lelands, which specialises in sports memorabilia, said the cigar was obtained by the consignor when she met the former NBA star at the Arizona Biltmore Resort in fall 2021 and asked him for a photo.

"Before taking the photo, he put out his cigar in the ashtray, snapped a quick picture and went about his day. After noticing Michael had left his cigar in the ashtray, our consignor decided to take the cigar along with her," the item description reads.

The half-smoked Oliva V. Melanio cigar is manufactured in Nicaragua and made with Cuban seeds. The auction opened on Thursday.

A befitting tribute

Sir,

This refers to the write up 'The Uncrowned Queen of Music' by Dr. Manik Bengeri on Lata Mangeshkar (SOM dated Feb. 7, 2002). No doubt the Indian nightingale richly deserves the encomiums showered, but the way the writer expressed them are equally good.

A singer herself, Dr. Bengeri's excellence in varied fields like literature, music, theatre, academics and handicrafts are praiseworthy. I wonder how could one acquire so many qualities besides one's routine job (at Bank).

These are well-enumerated by Prof. A.V. Narasimha Murthy few days later in your sister publication Mysuru Mithra (ಮೈಸೂರಿನ ದಿಟ್ಟ ಮಹಿಳೆಯರು ಇಟ್ಟ ಹೆಜ್ಜೆ - Mysurina Ditta Mahileyaru itta Hejje, Feb. 18, 2022).

This multi-talented personality, I feel, is the crown of our heritage city and is a model to our present generation.

Mega Industrial Zone to be set up in Mysuru outskirts: Nirani

Bengaluru, Feb. 22 (KMS & DM)- In a big boost for industrial growth in Mysuru, the Government has come forward to set up a mega Industrial Zone in the outskirts of the city.

As a first step in this regard, Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani has directed the concerned officials to identify 1,000 acres of land for the project. The Government plans to launch the Industrial Zone even before the Global Investors Meet to take place in November this year.

With big investors now more inclined on investing in Mysuru, the Government seems to seize the opportunity for making Mysuru as a big Industrial Hub that provides jobs to scores of youths.

Nirani, taking keen interest in the project, visited Mysuru recently, during which he sought inputs from officials on the availability of land and infrastructure.

Meanwhile, industrial growth in the city has hit roadblocks due to land litigations and other issues, which came to the notice of the Minister during his visit. Nirani, expressing disappointment, is said to have directed the officials to resolve all issues at the earliest and facilitate setting up of industries.

With the 10-lane (including service roads) Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway works scheduled to be completed this year, the travel time between Mysuru and Bengaluru will be cut short considerably. The Highway also links Chennai Industrial Corridor, thus facilitating industrial growth in the region. With major infrastructure development projects being taken up in Mysuru, the city is sure to attract huge investments in industrial, manufacturing and service sectors. Mysuru is all set to become the second largest Industrial Zone in the State after Bengaluru. This apart, Mysuru also provides a conducive atmosphere for industrial sector with its serene surroundings, favourable climate and being one of the biggest tourist attractions.

Proposal sent for land acquisition: With the Government planning to set up a mega Industrial Zone around Mysuru, the authorities have submitted a proposal to the Government seeking it to issue primary notification for acquisition of 1,040 acres of land in the outskirts of Mysuru, coming under Mysuru and Nanjangud taluks.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Special Land Acquisition Officer at Mysuru, V. Priyadarshini said that the process for acquisition of land for the industrial project has to be set in motion by identifying necessary land in villages coming under Mysuru and Nanjangud taluks. She said that the proposal has been sent through the headquarters of Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) at Bengaluru to the Government on issuing primary notification for acquisition of 1,040 acres of land.

Matka and cricket betting at tea shops: Two arrested

Rs. 82,290 cash, mobile phones seized

Mysuru, Feb. 22 (SBD&KS)- In separate cases, City Crime Branch (CCB) Police, who raided two tea shops, have arrested two persons for indulging in matka and cricket betting and have seized a total of Rs. 82,290 cash from them.

In the first case, the CCB Police, who raided a tea shop on Shanthinagar 1st Main Road on Feb. 17, arrested a man for conducting matka business and have seized Rs. 5,490 from him. A case has been registered at Udayagiri Police Station.

In the second case, the Cops who raided another tea shop on Lokaranjan Mahal Road on Feb. 18, arrested a person for indulging in cricket betting on mobile phones and have seized Rs. 76,800 and two mobile phones from him. A case has been registered at Nazarbad Police Station.

DCP (Crime and Traffic) M.S. Geetha Prasanna and CCB ACP C.K. Ashwathnarayan guided CCB Inspector A. Mallesh and staff R. Raju, Joseph Noronha, Janardhanrao, Anil, Arun Kumar, Raghu, Sunil and Srinivas in the nabbing and seizing operation.

Public places selected

Those indulging in matka and cricket betting are now selecting public places such as tea shops and parks instead of secluded places to hoodwink Police.

As majority of these type of betting take place through mobile phones, public places where there is huge rush are being selected.

In tea shops, those indulging in such betting come as customers and involve themselves in betting. Even if they sit for long time in tea shops, the shop owners assume that they are involved in online games and do not question them.

Taking all this into consideration, the Police have stepped up their vigil and are now collecting information from informants frequently.

Install CCTV cameras

Police said that tea shop owners should install CCTV camera in their shops so that such illegal activities would stop as those indulging in matka and cricket betting fear of getting caught on cameras.

CCTV cameras will also be helpful to trace criminals, the Police said and urged the public to inform the nearest Police Station or call the Police Control Room on Ph: 0821-2418339, if they come across any illegal activities taking place.

Sericulture provides good opportunity to augment income: UoM VC

Mysuru, Feb.22 (RKB&DM)- Maintaining that Sericulture provides a good opportunity for augmenting farmer income, University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor (UoM) Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar said that Karnataka, which is known as the Biotech capital of India, is home to one of the earliest and most thriving biotech ecosystems in India.

He was speaking after inaugurating DBT-Karnataka Skill Vigyan programme and a one-day workshop on Entrepreneurship Development in Sericulture Technology organised by the Department of Studies in Sericulture Science at the Department premises in Manasagangothri here yesterday morning.

Highlighting the significance of this type of skill and entrepreneurship development programme in the field of Sericulture, Prof. Hemantha Kumar stressed on the need for inculcating skill and adoption of new technologies to make Sericulture a successful occupation.

Noting that sericulture technologies have been changing at a rapid pace and extension work is being carried out at National, State and village level to educate sericulturists, he bemoaned that despite this, there seems to be a wide gap between available technologies and its adoption by farmers.

Asserting that currently, India is the world's second largest producer of raw silk and the largest consumer of raw silk and silk fabrics, the VC said that knowledge-based skill development is the need of the hour, not only upskilling the sericulturists, but also providing an assured occupation to unemployed youths, who are aspiring to establish themselves.

He hoped that this skill development training programme would bring a significant change both in social and economic spheres of the rural and semi-urban areas, which can largely help in avoiding migration of rural workforce to urban areas.

Dr. H. Honne Gowda, Dean (Research), JSS Science and Technology University, Mysuru, Keeranagere Jagadeesh, Rajyotsava awardee and Founder of Keeranagere Chawki Rearing Centre, UoM Sericulture Department Chairman Prof. H.B. Manjunatha, faculty Prof. R.S. Umakanth and others were present.

MLA's padayatra: Residents complain of huge water bills, garbage heaps Mysuru, Feb. 22 (PM&DM)- Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra continued his padayatra-spree in his Assembly segment by visiting Lokanayaknagar and Bhairaveshwaranagar along KRS Road on Saturday.

As he went through the two localities, many residents complained of high water bills after JUSCO installed water meters in their homes. Maintaining that they were paying more than their actual usage of water, the residents wanted the MLA to address the issue. Nagendra later directed VVWW officials to look into the matter and do the needful.

Several other residents complained that MCC Pourakarmikas were not collecting waste on a daily basis, which had resulted in piling up of garbage. They also complained of blocked drains. Responding to the complaints, the MLA directed the MCC health officials to ensure daily collection of wastes and to take steps for removing blockages in drains.

Nagendra visited Bhairaveshwaranagar Government School, during which he instructed the officials to ensure proper lighting in all classrooms.

Some residents complained that drunkards had made the Government School premises at Hebbal Colony their home, which was causing nuisance in the area, especially during night. The MLA directed the jurisdictional Metagalli Police to take suitable action in this regard.

During his padayatra, the MLA noticed that several roads were in poor shape. Taking the MCC officials to task for haphazard filling up of road cuttings that were dug for laying of UGD pipes, he directed them to fix all road issues in the locality at the earliest.

MLA Nagendra distributed money to some temples out of the Rs. 2 crore grant released by the Government for renovation. The MLA gave Rs. 10 lakh each to Eshwara Temple in Lokanayaknagar and Basavanagudi's Basaveshwara Temple and Rs. 5 lakh each to Pattaladamma and Doddamma Thayi Temples in Hebbal Colony for renovation and repairs.

Corporator Pailwan Srinivas, leaders Ramegowda, Dineshgowda, Punith, Tanuja Mahesh, Arun, Appajigowda, Srinivasgowda and others accompanied the MLA.

On their part, the State Congress leaders are expected to invite the party leadership for the valedictory of Mekedatu padayatra in the first week of next month.

Mekedatu padayatra to resume from Ramanagaram on Feb. 27

Bengaluru, Feb.22- The State Congress has decided to resume its 'Namma Neeru, Namma Hakku' (our water, our right) padayatra demanding implementation of the Mekedatu project from Ramanagaram on Feb. 27.

The padayatra was suspended on the fifth day on Jan. 13 owing to a surge in COVID cases.

Leader of the Opposition Siddharamaiah and KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar said that the padayatra would culminate at the National College Grounds in Basavanagudi on Mar. 3.

The State Budget for 2022-23 is expected to be tabled in the Legislature on March 4.

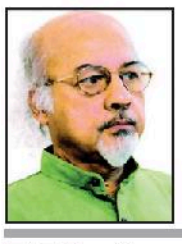
The protest march would be held for five days and all leaders, workers and the public would take part in it, they said.

Former Home Minister and MLA Ramalinga Reddy would lead the padayatra when it enters Bengaluru. The Congress has decided to put more pressure on the BJP Government in the State to seek necessary clearances from the Centre for implementing the project.

The Tamil Nadu Government has been opposing the project and filed a petition in the Supreme Court opposing the project in the Cauvery basin.

The Mekedatu project is aimed at supplying drinking water to Bengaluru City and neighbouring towns.

The musical phenomenon we lost



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Lata Mangeshkar was, after all, just a playback singer — one who played in the background while actors took the limelight. Yet, when she passed away, India paused. Linguistic and regional sentiments disappeared as all of India felt the loss of a national asset. The Government ordered a two-day national mourning and the final salute at Shivaji Park in Bombay saw dignitaries from all over the country in attendance, with Police and military personnel controlling the crowds. It was obvious that Lata had evolved into an all-India emblem.

Popular demand rose for a permanent Lata memorial at Shivaji Park, traditionally a beehive of sporting facilities. The 28-acre expanse of the maidan had become a cradle of cricketers who evolved into international celebrities. Since the Park is already identified with sports, the idea of a Lata memorial there did not appeal to sports enthusiasts. A PIL was filed in the Bombay High Court seeking directions not to use the Park for funerals and other such activities. The plea said: "Once an area is declared a playground, it cannot be used for any other purpose."

Those who supported that campaign had valid reasons to back them. But the dispute over location did not spoil the logic of a Lata memorial. It can of course be argued that nothing can be a better memorial for the singer than a song like Aayega aanewala ('Mahal' 1949). An additional three-dimensional memorial may someday come up somewhere, for Lata will remain a strong presence in the imagination of Indians for many years to come.

Among the many characteristics that make Lata Mangeshkar special, one that stood out was her down-to-earth practicality. She was aware of how singers were exploited in the film industry. When she realised that her songs were "owned" by publishing companies, she began questioning the propriety of it all. "What do I get from this?" she asked. It was that question that led to singers receiving royalty in Indian films. It must have made a big difference to her considering her output. She once said: "I recorded two songs in the morning, two in the afternoon, two in the evening, and two at night."

Life had given her some tough lessons. She was only 13 when her father died. At that age she was forced to earn a living. She got a stipend of Rs. 80 a month in the early 1940s. The fee for a song was Rs. 400 of which 300 was paid in advance.

The times were tough, but life had its compensations. One of them was that artistes found inspiration in one another. This was clear in an "extremely rare" photograph Facebook featured not long ago. It was a group photo with some 20 famous personalities posing together. Among them were Amirbai Karnataki, Geeta Dutt, Zohra Jan, Meena Kapoor, Sailesh Mukherjee, Talat Mahmood, Mohammed Rafi, G. M. Durrani, Kishore Kumar, Shamshad Begum, Hemant Kumar, Mukesh along with Lata. Truly, a nest of singing birds.

Lata's primacy in her field was accepted by fellow artistes with a naturalness that testified to the quality of her art. Things like jealousy and back-biting never seemed to collect around her. Perhaps this was a characteristic of her generation. Stars like Dilip Kumar, Raj Kapoor and Nargis enjoyed a level of admiration from the masses that was a mark of their era. It was qualitatively different from the acceptance level enjoyed by Amitabh Bachchan, Shah Rukh Khan and Aishwarya Rai. Raj Kapoor was a selfish person and had no qualms about using others for his individual gain. But that did not in any way cut into the mass adulation he attracted.

Lata belonged to the Raj Kapoor era when heroes looked like heroes and were treated as such by the masses. She also had a distinct personality profile of her own, holding her up as more than just a playback singer. As one profile noted: "Lata liked photography, enjoyed Formula One races, took interest in Ferraris and watched foreign films. She had a fantastic collection of professional cameras. Cricket was another passion. Yash Chopra gave her an E-Class Mercedes Benz for what she did in Veer Zaara, a 2004 musical about an Indian pilot and Pakistani girl. The song Tere Liye was one of its hits."

Lata's high-pitched soprano voice became "a hallmark of Hind film music." You didn't have to know Hindi to enjoy the beauty of her song and the warmth of the romantic sentiments the lyrics often conveyed. Will there ever be another Lata Mangeshkar? Many more than the 140 crore Indians will hope so, but know better.

Mysore Varsity - KPA ink pact to train Police Officers

Courses in Forensic Sciences, Criminology, Social Studies and IT in the offing

Mysuru, Feb. 22 (RK&BCT)- The University of Mysore (UoM) and Karnataka Police Academy (KPA), Mysuru, have joined hands to educate and train Police personnel and allied staff. UoM Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar and outgoing KPA Director Vipul Kumar signed an agreement yesterday at Crawford Hall to offer blended courses to Police personnel who undergo training at the KPA.

Though the University has signed more than 100 MoUs with national and international organisations, this is the first time that UoM is signing an MoU with a Police training institute.

The MoU aims to explore accreditation and joint certification of academic and training programmes including design, development and delivery of offline and online courses of mutual interest. The training will be provided as part of certificate, PG diploma and PG courses.

In short, the courses will equip the Police personnel undergoing training at KPA to be better educated and also equipped with latest technological advances in the field of cyber crime that will also help them crack cases. The training will equip Police officers with knowledge in areas like Forensic Sciences, Criminology, Social Studies and IT.

Both the UoM and the KPA will develop and organise thematic short-term online or offline training programmes which will be held in association with national and international Universities and industry partners. As part of the curriculum, seminars, conferences and workshops will be held on the subjects on which the training is provided.

The MoU will be for 10 years and both the institutions will share expertise, trainers, learners as well as course materials for the programmes. Personnel who are a part of mutual training will also get access to each other's libraries and academic publications. This apart, the MoU will facilitate faculty and student exchange programmes, research projects and also will pave the way for many internship and scholarship programmes.

Expressing happiness over the MoU, Prof. Hemantha Kumar said that the Board of Studies of the University will discuss and finalise the courses to be studied by the trainee Police Officers that can help in their profession. Certificate courses and PG diploma courses can be introduced that are tailored to the requirements and the interest of the Police Officers, he said.

Vipul Kumar too described the MoU as a historic step and the KPA too had signed such MoU with a premier academic institution for the first time. "We are so busy with our 24X7 Police duties that we find it difficult to focus on academics and learn new things. Only learning can help Police personnel ideate and efficiently function in the Department. This MoU will bridge the gap between the Police profession and learning," he said.

UoM Registrar Prof. R. Shivappa, KPA Assistant Director Kumar, UoM Planning Monitoring & Evaluation Board (PMEB) Director Prof. N.K. Lokanath, VC's Special Officer Chethan and other officers from the UoM and KPA were present.

Now, City Cyber Police crack five frauds; Victims get back Rs. 4.73 lakh

Mysuru, Feb. 22 (RK&BCT)- Close on the heels of District Cybercrime, Economic Offences and Narcotics (CEN) Police solving seven online fraud cases and returning Rs. 4,58,500 to the victims, the city CEN Police cracked five such cases and helped the victims get back Rs. 4,73,056.

Based on the complaints, the Quick Response Team of the city CEN Police Station contacted the managers, nodal officers and the legal teams of the banks to which the money was credited in a fraudulent manner.

The banks too quickly froze the accounts held by the fraudsters and took steps to return the money to the victims. A press release from City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta's office stated that Dr. Venkatasubbaiah, a resident of Sharadadevinagar, had transferred Rs. 1,93,056 through his credit card to the account of an accused and lost the money.

Dr. Chandragupta

Similarly, Vanishree, a resident of Cheluvamba Agrahara, lost Rs. 50,000 to a conman through an online payment app, Bopaiah, a resident of Vijayanagar, had transferred Rs. 30,000 to the account of an accused through online banking and Vinoda Bai, a resident of Kuvempunagar, had made an online bank transfer of Rs. 1,00,000 to a fraudster.

Using a similar modus operandi, a fraudster stole the personal banking details of Dr. Rajeshwari, a resident of Metagalli under the pretext of updating her KYC details. She ended up losing Rs. 1,00,000.

CEN Police Station Inspector Jayakumar and his team carried out the investigation under the supervision of Mysuru Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) Pradeep Gunti.

Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta has asked the people to be wary as cybercriminals are adopting different strategies to dupe people. They have advised the public to not fall into the trap of fake customer care numbers found on Google search.

He told people not to share any bank account/ card/ wallet details with customer care persons. Also, people must be careful of messages they receive on their mobile phones with a link for updating their PAN card and KYC. Further, he said not to download any remote access applications even if a customer care person instructs to do so, as this can allow a fraudster to note down all bank/card details and cheat.

The Commissioner has cautioned against online loan offers and girls making obscene video calls on WhatsApp and Instagram before recording the victims and blackmailing them. Another modus operandi of fraudsters is to place ads on online marketplace apps posing as Defence personnel.

Dr. Chandragupta has appealed to the general public to contact the CEN Police Station if they are cheated by online fraudsters. They can contact the CEN Police Station in person or call Ph: 0821-2418598 or visit National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal (NCCRP) or toll free number: 155260.

Cycling Buddies of Sankalp

By Sujata Rajpal

If you are a morning walker who likes to walk on the main road rather than taking multiple rounds in a park, then you must have spotted cyclists in droves on the side of the road in neon vests, head gears shining on their heads like a halo, stylish sunglasses making them look like a star, water bottles on the undersides, these cool dudes surely inject spikes of envy to the humble morning walkers.

Sujata Rajpal

Welcome to the 'new' sport made fashionable by the pandemic. In fact, there is nothing new about cycling. In olden times when the roads were sparsely dotted with vehicles and the four-wheelers were not so affordable, people cycled to work but it is only now that cycling is popular as a form of exercise and hobby. The cycling boom, which started after the first lockdown, continues today with greater vigour. With gyms, swimming pools, indoor sports activities and outdoor group activities closed, the residents of the royal city have taken to cycling in a big way.

Mysureans have the advantage of good roads which are not crowded all the time and the weather conducive for outdoor sports like cycling. Of late, a greater number of people from varied age groups and professions have joined this bandwagon.

Even if cycling is an old sport, modern day cycling is not just pick up your father's cycle and start pedalling. The cycle has to be sturdy, easy to ride and comfortable. Each member of the house has his own cycle according to one's requirement.

Every pocket of the city has a cycling group. One such group is of the residents of Sankalp Central Park (SCP), the elite residential society at Yadavagiri.

'Cycling is such a sport that people can start at any age. Many in their fifties are first time cyclists,' says Manish Raj who spearheads the group at Sankalp Central Park along with his wife Kavita Chauhan who shares his interest of cycling. A motley group of over two dozen cycling enthusiasts (both men and women) from varied professions such as medicos, businessmen, students and housewives, cycle twice a week to various destinations. Most are busy professionals, but they find out time for this sport.

'One can start short distance cycling on one's own but long distance cycling needs more planning, so it is advisable to go in a group with experienced cyclists,' tells Manish Raj who has been involved in long distance cycling for the past six years. He is also a part of cyclist group outside this housing society. They cover approximately 85 kms in three hours.

Long distance cycling needs more planning as one needs to decide the route which has minimal traffic, carry food, a tool kit, back up cycles, the luggage in case of overnight halt and other logistics have to be kept in mind.

In the past, the group has travelled to Nanjangud, Ooty, Chikmagalur, Agumbe Ghat, Charmadi Ghat and Wayanad.

Besides the benefits of fitness and health, cycling is also a great way to socialise while maintaining social distancing. Cycling being a family sport, it is always fun to have more number of people in the group.

Pandemic or no pandemic, it appears Mysureans' love for cycling is here to stay.

The cyclists of Sankalp are: Manish Raj, Dr. Nagesh Shivanna, Dr. Vipin Kaverappa, Chidhambara Shivanna, Dr. Kumaran, Dr. Shyam Sarvoday, Dr. Ravikiran, Mahadev Swamy, Manish Gupta, Suresh Patil, Dr. Prasanna, Rajiv Ranjan, Santosh Rao, Shan Pinto, B.V. Vibhav, Dr. Shivanand, Nishanth Ramkrishna, Dr. Shailesh Pene, Manoj Lodha, Kavita Chauhan, Shankari Kumaran, Shikha Manish, Sunita Rajiv, Dr. Rati, Dr. Priyanka Talvade, Vanita Rao, Monika, Anu Mahadev Swamy, Shwetha and Dr. Parvathi.

WORD OF THE DAY

Peremptory

Meaning: Peremptory means "expressive of urgency or command" or "marked by arrogant self-assurance."
Origin: Peremptory comes from Latin perimere, which means "to take entirely" or "to destroy." The prefix per- means "thoroughly," and emere means "to take." Implying the removal of one's option to disagree or contest something, peremptory stays close to its roots.
Example: "Celeste had work e-mails flooding in. Her assistant had taken the entire fall off with a mysterious—even suspect—leg injury and now e-mailed Celeste fifteen times a day demanding, in peremptory and vaguely hostile tones, that Celeste fill out paperwork." — Greg Jackson

THE ODD WORD

Paedobaptism

Doctrine of infant baptism.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Prick up your ears

Meaning: The expression "prick up your ears" is used to describe listening carefully to something that is being said or that is happening around you.
Origin: It is also the name of an 80s biographical film, starring Gary Oldman and Vanessa Redgrave, and directed by Stephen Frears.
Example: "Prick up your ears, because I'm about to tell you what to study for the final exam."

QUOTE BOX

There is no real silence for the sensitive ears and there is no real tranquility for the sensitive hearts! — Mehmet Murat ildan

Special Dasara Exhibition reopens

Mysuru, Feb. 22 (GA,SBD &BCT)- The Special Exhibition organised by the Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) to make up for the loss incurred due to cancellation of the annual Dasara Exhibition is back with a bang at the Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

The show re-commenced on Feb. 19 and will be held for 23 days following all COVID-19 precautions. Since COVID pandemic took over the world, the exhibition which is a major attraction of the Dasara season, had to be cancelled.

As the second wave petered out, the KEA thought of a plan to hold a special exhibition with an aim to provide a new shopping experience for Mysureans and at the same time increase its revenues.

Accordingly, the exhibition was inaugurated on Nov. 27 last year and Jan. 30, 2022 was fixed as the last date. The exhibition got good response and on an average, over 5,000 to 7,000 people visited per day with the numbers breaching the 10,000 mark during weekends. However, the third wave of the pandemic along with the Omicron variant struck the city with increased infection rate. Consequently, the event was cancelled based on the directive issued by Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham.

Now with the third wave ending, the KEA has taken a decision to re-start the exhibition and has limited it to 23 days, ending on March 12. On Sunday, thousands of people visited the exhibition.

Of the 142 stalls in the restarted exhibition, most of them have been opened including clothing, handicrafts, pottery, food courts and amusement parks. While adults have to pay Rs. 30 per head as entry free, children have to pay Rs. 20. The expo will be open between 3.30 pm and 9 pm.
